

AIRC Summercamp

Almancil International Rotary Club has sponsored two young people to spend two weeks in England improving their English and attending a Summer camp holiday in Cheshire England. Their trip will include a visit to various sites of interest in Manchester and Liverpool and a two day trip to the Isle of Man.

The two students, Caterina Paulino (from Loulé) and Pedro Silva (from Faro) both have ambitions to work in the field of journalism or a career which will involve a high command of English and are delighted with the gift of the opportunity to practise their English. The Summercamp hosts students from another eleven countries as well as Portugal, and all communication will be in English, giving both youngsters the opportunity to broaden their horizons and meet on equal terms with people from other nationalities.

Photo shows the President of AIRC Peter Hinze with Catarina Paulino and Pedro Silva

